

Starcut Software (www.starcutsoftware.com) is a leading solution provider mobilizing media and brands. We develop and market high quality software to create top of the line, ad supported, context aware mobile services. We are a company on a mission to enable the best consumer experiences across any consumption device or platform with minimum effort to our customers. With offices in Espoo, New York and Singapore we deliver ground breaking digital solutions to a wide range of clients.

Starcut Software is looking for Technical Project Manager to join our professional services team in Espoo.

As a technical project manager you will be working with our clients and technical development team to implement new and innovative mobile and online services. You will work closely with our customers, the entertainment and media industry, our concept designers and graphic designers.

Your tasks will include, among others, the following:

- Implementation project management
 - Manage project resourcing, scope, schedule and deliverables
- Technical infrastructure planning
- Management of testing and implementation sub-projects
- Communicating with clients and partners
- Documentation and reporting
- Budgeting and reporting
- Risk management to map risks and plan mitigations

A successful applicant will have at least 5 year's working experience in managing technical development and integration projects. You have excellent understanding of mobile and online service technologies. You have ability to understand a complex technical infrastructures and integrated systems (application servers, databases, web servers, etc) as well as service development lifecycle, application testing and release management.

You are experienced in communicating with clients, partners, our creative and technical team members and you are used to working independently and taking responsibility of the success of a project. You are creative and ambitious and enjoy challenges. A good command of spoken and written English is important. Strong communicational skills as well as the ability to work independently as well as a part of a team are essential.

We offer an international and dynamic work environment. The compensation package will be competitive and scaled according to skills and experience. The position will offer a rich set of opportunities for personal development. You will be based in our Espoo office.

Please send your application and CV in English to info@starcutsoftware.com by Monday 27th of December, 2010.